

HOW TO THINK ABOUT THE ELECTION LIKE A POLITICAL PHILOSOPHER

The United States is so polarized right now that it feels as if there aren't any real debates about the current election. There is shouting, fear, and propaganda, but hardly any discussion. Maybe another point of view will be helpful.

What does a political philosopher's perspective offer America today? Join the conversation with Jack Russell Weinstein to find out.

---

Jack Russell Weinstein, Ph.D. is a Chester Fritz Distinguished Professor of Philosophy and Director of the Institute for Philosophy in Public Life at the University of North Dakota.

A CONVERSATION WITH
JACK RUSSELL WEINSTEIN
HOST OF PRAIRIE PUBLIC
RADIO'S *WHY? PHILOSOPHICAL
DISCUSSIONS ABOUT EVERYDAY LIFE*

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 10TH 5:00PM
MAIN STREET BOOKS
8 MAIN ST S, MINOT, ND 58701

For questions or more information please contact Raman Sachdev at Raman.Sachdev@MinotStateU.edu.

Special thanks to the MSU Cultural and Intellectual Engagement Council, the MSU Department of Humanities, Social Sciences, and Interdisciplinary Studies, and Humanities North Dakota.

